CURTAILMENT HELPS EASE ENERGY USE AT PEAK TIMES

VOLUNTARY LOAD REDUCTION PROGRAM

If your business can curtail its energy usage temporarily when requested to do so, ComEd can help you save money through the Voluntary Load Reduction (VLR) program.

The VLR program rewards businesses for curtailing energy usage with financial incentives. VLR participation is not only beneficial to your business, but also will help the environment.

When ComEd sends a notification of a curtailment event, your business can accept or decline participation in the event. Incentives for reducing energy usage are based on hourly wholesale electricity prices and demand on the energy grid and are communicated in event notifications.

ELIGIBILITY

- All Commercial and Industrial ComEd customers including those that purchase their electricity from suppliers other than ComEd are eligible to participate.
- Customers must be able to reduce energy usage by at least 10 kilowatts. Even if you can't fully participate in a curtailment event, you will receive an incentive for any measured energy reduction. There are never any penalties.

INCENTIVES

Participants can earn at least $0.25 per kilowatthour for curtailed energy usage. Incentives can be larger depending on wholesale electricity market prices and demand on the energy grid. In the past, participants have earned incentives that were up to 20 times the price paid for electricity on their energy bills.

The delivery price incentive is based on demand on the energy grid (for example, substations and wires that are used to deliver electricity).

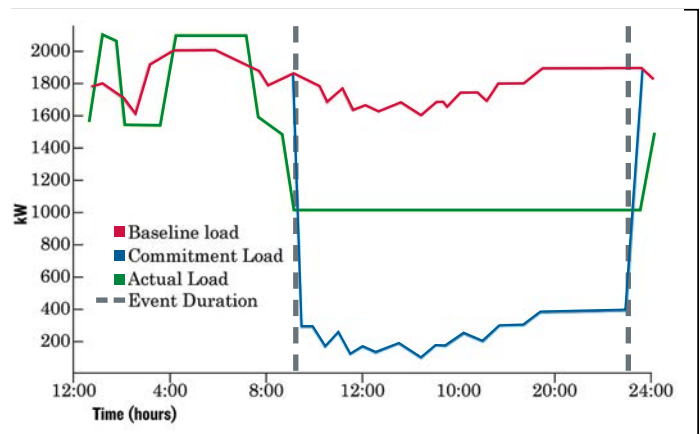

Cash or billing credits are provided to participating customers at the end of each calendar year.

INCENTIVE PAYMENTS

Customers can view their actual energy usage information by visiting ComEd.com/MyAccount, or by contacting their Account Manager or call the ComEd Business Service Center at (877) 426-6331. Customers can view usage information 48 hours after a curtailment event.

Curtailed energy usage and incentive payments will be available by December 31. Customers can view their incentive payments by visiting ComEd.com/MyAccount.

ILLUSTRATIVE CURTAILMENT DATA

- The red line represents the amount of energy that would have been used as determined by ComEd using the five prior “like days” for the baseline calculation of the incentive.
- The blue line represents energy usage based on the commitment level of reduced energy usage at the time of enrollment.
- The green line represents actual energy usage during the curtailment event.

HOW MUCH NOTICE IS PROVIDED PRIOR TO CURTAILMENT EVENTS?

Customers receive at least a one-hour notice before any curtailment event begins.

HOW YOU WILL BE NOTIFIED?

Notification will be provided via telephone, e-mail, or via mobile text (with customer permission).

HOW LONG WILL EACH CURTAILMENT LAST?

Participants will generally be asked to curtail between two and eight hours.

ARE THERE ANY PENALTIES FOR NOT PARTICIPATING IN EVENT OR NOT REDUCING ENERGY USAGE?

No, there are never any penalties for not participating or fully participating in any curtailment event. In fact, ComEd will provide incentives for any curtailed usage that can be measured during the event.

HOW IS CURTAILED ENERGY USAGE DETERMINED?

Curtailed energy usage will be determined by subtracting actual energy usage from the amount of energy that would have been used as determined by ComEd.

Enrollment in the VLR program each year is self-renewing. You must contact ComEd to terminate participation.
